

Break the habit or move state

---

Gympie Times: August 12, 2010

A number of cannabis possession cases are discussed in this article, including one where a man charged with cannabis possession who had "no plans to give up" was advised to relocate to a place where use of the drug was legal. Another case involved a woman who requested a conviction not be recorded against her because "it would jeopardise her employment opportunities with an airline once she finished her studies."