

Use your experience with problem drug use to help others

Guidelines on how to help someone with a drug use problem are being developed at The University of Melbourne. We are looking for participants to complete a series of online questionnaires about topics such as 'how to talk to someone about their problem drug use' and 'how to manage someone when they are affected by drugs'. If you have had a problem with drug use or you have cared for someone with drug use problems AND you are in advocacy role*, please email annak@unimelb.edu.au or go to our website for more information about participating.

*By advocacy role, we mean 'having represented the interests of problem drug users or their carers within the community, so that you have an understanding of problem drug use beyond your own personal experience'.

Have you had a problem with drug use?

Have you cared for someone with drug problems?

Are you in an advocacy role?

Would you like to use your experience to help others?

Project Manager Anna Kingston (annak@unimelb.edu.au or 61 3 9342 3764)

To see if you are eligible to participate and receive an Amazon voucher, click here.